

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Image data for computer processing and image data for digital video equipment using the image data for computer processing as a source can be easily reproduced from a recording medium storing the image data. A recording medium, which stores image data of a DVD-Video format or a Video-CD format and image data for computer processing, is set in a media drive. A selection screen is displayed on a TV for selecting an image area storing the image data of a DVD-Video format or a Video-CD format or an image area storing the image data for computer processing. The image data stored in the selected image area are reproduced.